Acadia University is proudly located on Mi'kma'ki, the ancestral territory of the Mi'kmaq People.

Faculty of Arts
Department of Sociology
Assistant Professor in Sociology
9.5 Month Contractually Limited Term Appointment

Position # 11309CLT 9.5m – The Department of Sociology seeks to fill a 9.5 month contractually limited position at the rank of Assistant Professor effective August 1, 2021. We seek candidates who would be qualified to teach and conduct research in one or more of the following fields: Critical Race and Social Justice, Canadian Law and/or Criminal Justice, as well as Critical Health and Food Studies. We would also expect the successful candidate to be able to teach core Sociology courses which may include introductory courses or qualitative research methods.

Sociology at Acadia provides a critical scholarly analysis of how we understand and experience our social world. There are three broad themes that define our program: knowledge and power, social justice, and the Sociology of everyday life. We emphasize a commitment to public Sociology and transformative practices. These positions are subject to budgetary approval.

Qualifications: The successful candidate should hold a Ph.D. in Sociology or closely-related discipline. ABDs may be considered.

How to Apply: Applications must include a letter of application, an up-to-date curriculum vitae, a recent writing sample, a teaching dossier including statement of teaching philosophy, and a summary of past course evaluations. Candidates who are shortlisted will be asked to provide references. Candidates are asked to provide the contact information for three referees.
